Imagine a small wearable device...

1. How would you represent the number of familiar people?
2. The amount of time you've spent with them?
3. Both the number and the amount of time?

Imagine if these displays showed...

1. that there are few familiar people around?
2. that you'd spent a lot of time with them, though?
3. that they didn't share any other locations with you?
4. but that this location is frequented by many familiar people?

Color in the sample displays accordingly.
